

Ancestry.com's Free Resources (no paid subscription required)

created by Karen Richard

**Updated May 2017*

Create your own family tree

1. Create events
2. Edit information
3. Add notes and comments
4. Add media - audio, links, video, pictures (photos, documents, etc.)
5. Invite others to your tree - as guest, editor, or contributor
6. Search – see what collections ancestry has

DNA

If you've done ancestry's DNA test kit, you can see your results and attach them to your tree.

List of free collections

Ancestry has some free collections here:

<http://search.ancestry.com/search/group/freeindexacom>

Learning videos (webinars)

1. Ancestry on Youtube: <https://www.youtube.com/user/AncestryCom/featured>: several playlists available including 5 Minute Find series
2. Karen's organized playlists of ancestry videos
https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCrcaTJba3xIPn2\_XQ9rgehq

Ancestry genealogy toolkit

Click Help, then Support Center, and search "genealogy toolkit" in the search box; or just click here: <https://support.ancestry.com/s/article/Ancestry-Genealogy-Toolkit>. Below are just some of the resources you'll find there:

1. Charts and forms – from ancestral charts to blank census forms
2. Research guides for some ethnicities and geographic locations *
3. Translation help for Dutch, French, German, Italian, and Spanish languages
4. Ancestry Wiki – a resource to learn much more about a variety of topics. The Wiki also contains two books: The Source: A Guide to American Genealogy, and Red Book:

American State, County, and Town Sources:

http://www.ancestry.com/wiki/index.php?title=Main\_Page

5. Ancestry Blog
6. Genealogy Glossary
7. Message boards – search or post queries by location, topic or surname (free account required in order to post queries and replies)
8. County Look-up – type in the name of a town/city and find out which county it's currently in, as well as being provided a link to more information about the county
9. Our social network: blogs, Facebook, Twitter, Google+, Pinterest, Instagram, Youtube
10. Beyond Ancestry – includes links to resources outside of ancestry, such as maps, census helps, etc.

Research Guides and other helps

This page lists some research guides that aren't in the Genealogy Toolkit. The list includes Getting Started, a few ethnicities and religions, and several topics. *

<https://support.ancestry.com/s/article/ka21500000TzBpAAK/Free-Research-Guides>

*Not all research guides are listed in the Genealogy Toolkit or Research Guides, for example Puerto Rico (<http://c.ancestry.com/cs/media/social-state-research-guide-puertorico.pdf>). If you don't see what you're looking for, use the search bar within the Support Center that says "search for articles and discussions" to see if there may be an article or research guide on your topic.